

H-1B CAP: SELECTED- WHAT NOW?

Selection does not mean H-1B approval - there is significant work ahead in less than 90 days!

STEP 1. LCA (DEPT. OF LABOR)

- Labor Condition Application (LCA) = specific and unique certification & posting submitted by Attorney on behalf of Employer
- Contains job title, wage, location(s) of employment
- Notices Posted at work sites
- Certification required before H-1B petition can be filed
- Certification takes 7-10 days
- Acknowledgment signature by foreign national

STEP 2. SUPPORTING DOCS

PETITIONER

- Job description
- Work locations & wage
- Employee benefits manual
- Electronic marketing materials
- Request for proposals
- Supervisor's license, if needed
- Others

FOREIGN NATIONAL

- Educational credentials w/ translations
- Immigration documents
  - Passport ID page
  - Visa stamp
  - All I-20s & EADs
- Pay Statements
- Project Sample

STEP 3. PREPARATION & FILING OF H-1B

- Review and prepare all immigration forms & supporting documents
- Obtain signatures from Employer & Attorney
- Strategize Premium use
- File with USCIS, always with good vibes
- USCIS issues receipt notice (10-30 days or more) after filing
- Case is placed in queue for processing (see below)

STEP 4. PROCESSING TIMES (USCIS)

- Regular Processing
  - No set time frame (3 to 6 months or more)
  - Ideally, before October
- Premium Processing
  - Faster response (15 days) for a premium fee $
  - But, not always the way to go. It's a case by case determination.

STEP 5. APPROVAL

- USCIS issues Approval Notice to Employer & Attorney
- Foreign National changes status in the U.S. in accordance with H-1B LCA start date or plans to consular process abroad new H-1B visa stamp
- Employers start withholding FICA taxes on those previously in F-1 status
- Foreign Nationals need to plan proactively for any travel abroad

*This material is not intended to substitute as legal advice.